If you're having trouble signing into your Xbox Live account today, you're not alone. According to the Xbox Live Service Status page, Microsoft is currently experiencing issues with the Xbox Live Core Services, knocking out the ability to sign in. Microsoft's Xbox Live Status page says: "Hey Xbox members, are you having trouble purchasing or managing your subscriptions for Xbox Live? Are you also having an issue with signing into Xbox Live? We are aware of these issues and are working to get it fixed ASAP! Thank you for being patient while we work. We'll post another update when more information becomes available." In addition, some folks are also having issues with other Xbox Live services, even if they are signed in: "Hey Xbox members, are you having trouble with game invites and receiving your toast notifications? Are you running into issues purchasing certain content? Additionally, are you having an issue playing games and media you've purchased? We are aware of these issues and are working hard to get it fixed ASAP! Thank you for being patient while we work. We'll post another update when more information becomes available." The problems began a few hours ago. You can check up on the Xbox Live Status page (opens in new tab) for any and all updates. Source: Xbox Live Status (opens in new tab) By Trisha Bartle Although Microsoft Outlook comes with full calendar support, you can only access your appointments on the original computer that has the email software installed. As you travel and use other computers, use Windows Live Calendar for access to your schedule wherever you go. Synchronize Microsoft Outlook with your Windows Live Calendar so you can view and alter your appointments within Outlook. As you add a new appointment to the Windows Live Calendar in Outlook, that information is sent to the online version of the Windows Live Calendar, giving you access wherever you go. Download the Microsoft Outlook Hotmail Connector (see "Resources.") Save the setup file at a memorable place on your computer, such as the desktop. Once the file is downloaded, double-click it to start the installation process. Add your Windows Live account information during the software installation. Enter your Windows Live ID, your name and the account password. Follow the on-screen directions, then click the "Finish" button when the installation is complete. Start Microsoft Outlook from your computer's "Start" menu. If you already had Outlook open, close and restart the program after installing the connector software. Click the "Calendar" icon from the task pane on the left side of the screen. From the calendar section, activate the checkbox next to the Windows Live Calendar you want to show. The calendar will display alongside the other calendars you use in Microsoft Outlook. Xbox Live Sign (Image credit: Windows Central) Xbox players are currently experiencing issues with trying to sign into the Xbox network. This issue is preventing players from accessing their account, which in turn disrupts their ability to play their games. Microsoft has confirmed that it's investigating the issues, so hopefully the problem will be fixed sooner rather than later. Update Sept. 15 (3:28 p.m. ET): Microsoft has confirmed that Xbox Live sign-in and connection issues have been resolved. Many Xbox players trying to connect to their Xbox network (formerly known as Xbox Live) profiles are currently experiencing issues signing in, indicating that Microsoft's systems are going through a rough patch. The issue is primarily affecting users trying to sign into their Xbox network accounts, but it also appears that some users that are already signed in are experiencing some connection issues and service disruptions as well. Specifically, the Xbox status page notes the following: "You may not be able to sign in to your Xbox profile, may be disconnected while signed in, or have other related problems. Features that require sign-in like most games, apps and social activity won't be available." Microsoft has announced that it's currently investigating reports of the sign-in issues, so hopefully the problem will be resolved sooner rather than later. We're keeping a close eye on the situation and will update this article when we learn more. With any luck, Microsoft will be able to get everything back in working order shortly so that Xbox players can get back to enjoying their games. Microsoft has announced that it has resolved the issues preventing Xbox players from signing into the Xbox network and playing their games. Users should now be able to log in and play without issue. For believers of the zodiac, the stars rule all. Your sign can tell you who to date, what to wear, where to work — heck, there are even places where you should live based on your zodiac sign. Part of it seems to depend on whether you're an earth, fire, air, or water sign. From there, it digs deeper into the specific personality traits of each sign of the zodiac. The city that best suits a Virgo might not be ideal for a Gemini. (In fact, with how much Gemini and Virgo clash, I don't think they'd want to be in the same city together anyway.) Now, I love learning about astrology, but while I do think it's got some things right, I don't let it rule my life. However, I can tell you this: When I was 23 years old, I "got bored," left Michigan (born and raised), and moved to Sin City — and since I'm a Gemini, this makes perfect sense, astrologically speaking. At any given moment, there are about 154,028 different things to do here. It's impossible to get bored. I think the stars aligned when I arrived in Las Vegas; the Gemini in me has never been happier. So maybe there is something to all of this, after all. Even if it's just for fun, your sign can point you in new directions and introduce you to cool stuff you never knew about before: book series you might like, graduate school programs you'd be great at, and even the kind of wine you should drink. Add to that this list of where you should live based on astrology, and you're good to go! 1. Aries You don't like to sit still, Aries. You're daring, spontaneous, and full of energy. You need to be kept busy with exciting adventures — and Down Under is the place for you. Australia is home to the Red Centre: A 140-mile trail which makes for 14 straight days of nonstop activity. You'll walk as many as 20 miles in a day, but I know you're up for the challenge. Don't forget the endless surfing opportunities. 2. Taurus Taurus is ambitious but loves her independence. Prague, in the Czech Republic, might just be the perfect place for you. The cost of living there is relatively cheap, and public transportation is a breeze. You still have plenty to see though, like the Lennon Wall and the Castle District. 3. Gemini You knew this one was coming. The sign of the twins means you never know what you're going to get with Gemini. Outgoing, chatty, fun-loving? Introverted, serious, thoughtful? Who knows? Variety is the key, so set up shop in sunny Las Vegas, Nevada. Between the entertainment, outdoor adventures, and gorgeous views, take it from this Gemini Las Vegan: You'll never get bored. 4. Cancer Cancer loves to be by the water, and Barcelona, Spain happens to have been voted one of the Top 10 Beach Cities in the world by the National Geographic. Eight white, sandy beaches border the Mediterranean coastline. 5. Leo Leo is ambitious and ridiculously confident, with a sunny disposition that simply radiates. The Maldives — ruled by the Leo sign — would be the perfect place to call home. 6. Virgo You're intelligent and practical, with a thirst for knowledge and love for a good book. Venice, Italy could very well be your home sweet home: It has awe-inspiring architecture, a rich history, and happens to be home to famous writers like Marco Polo and Giacomo Casanova. 7. Libra Libras are the social butterfly of the zodiac. Head for the place that Business Insider voted the most social city in the United States.: San Francisco, California! 8. Scorpio Don't mess with a Scorpio — they're strong, fierce, and totally passionate. Settling on the East Coast in the city that never sleeps is the perfect move for you. We
